

Planting Trees For Peace Writing Competition for Year 7-10 Students

WIN BOOKS, GIFTS plus TREES FOR YOUR SCHOOL

A REWARD FOR EACH VALID ENTRY

Planting trees for peace is an ancient custom, a way of leaving a long-lasting legacy to benefit future life on this planet. Planting trees can clear the air, reduce erosion, clean up waterways, filter ultraviolet light, shelter farm animals, heal the land, encourage ecotourism, cool down cities - and much, much more.

LP Hansen's latest book, Hidden Stories of Heroism for a Peaceful Planet, includes a true story of bringing peace to a ravaged, war-torn country by planting trees.

YOUR TASK: In 200-500 words, tell a tale of planting trees for peace. Your story may be fact or fiction, illustrated or not, written as regular text, a poem, a letter, a conversation or in graphic form. Regardless of style, it needs a clear beginning, middle and end, and to be signed off by an adult as your own work.

WIN: The winner gets books, gifts and a voucher for trees, total value at more than $200, plus sweet treats from Whittakers Chocolate, a company known to be a strong supporter of peace in their supply chains, especially forest habitat. 2nd and 3rd prizes are provided.

COMPETITION CLOSSES Wednesday 12 MARCH 2025: Email entries with confirmation that it is your own work, to: Planting Trees For Peace info@onepotopress.com. Include a wordcount, your name, class and school. Entries can also be posted to: Planting Trees For Peace Competition, Onepoto Press, PO Box 52037, Titahi Bay, PORIRUA 5022 to arrive by Wednesday 12 March 2025.

GET A 20% DISCOUNT VOUCHER: All valid entries receive a discount, on request, for L P Hansen's new book, Hidden Stories of Heroism for a Peaceful Planet.
